Organizations are the business world's central actors, employing multiple people who pursue collective goals while linked to an external environment. This volume is the first of two books dedicated to defining current theories of organizations and their practices. The text is filled with contributions by alumni of the ESB Business School at Reutlingen University. Part I discusses contemporary organizational forms and properties, including team aspects. Part II provides a detailed overview of key themes in modern leadership and coaching, as well as organizational intervention.

Insightful essays about our knowledge of organizations and how to lead them. (Ottmar Schneck, professor of banking, finance, and risk and dean of the ESB Business School) About the Author Timea Havar-Simonovich is a co-director of the International Institute for Strategic Leadership at Reutlingen University.
